Energy Conservation, Roof Repair Discussed by GHI

by Roberta McNamara

The March 24 GHI meeting was remarkable since it adjourned by 9:30 p.m. A short meeting, however, does not mean that nothing was discussed! Contained in the meeting were a presentation for energy conservation, a petition for adequate lighting in 33 Court of Ridge Road, various bids, and a proposal to use a new material for roof repair on the four flat topped free-standing homes.

Dr. Winett of the Institute for Behavioral Research proposed that GHI provide candidates for a behavioral modification conservation plan. The Institute planned to monitor the use of electricity by those in a study group. Daily, the Institute would inform the volunteers how much electricity they had used; the projected costs and daily savings. Winett stated that this feedback could lead to an energy savings of 10-15%.

The experiment could be done as an individual or group feedback plan. The Institute would pay all costs for the study but would require office space. The Institute would want to start by the end of April.

The board plans to take up this proposal at the next regular meeting. Directors Mary Clarke and Virginia Moryadas thought this type of study might be applied to GHI's use of water.

The board acted on two drafts to be added to GHI regulations. The first would require members planning additions to have the outside walls constructed of fire resistant materials. The second draft dealt with painting regulations. GHI will now give a trim paint credit to the accounts of those members who paint their own trim. GHI will continue to trim paint as usual for those who prefer GHI to do the job.

The board accepted the bid of Mark Beck Associates to be the consultant for preparing the rehabilitation of the master plan. It was felt that the firm had considerable experience in large scale projects such as student housing analysis for the University of Maryland and housing rehabilitation analysis for Quantico. Considering the high caliber of the firm's subcontractors' specialties such as energy conservation, parking problems, and financial analysis plus Mark Beck's emphasis on thorough planning and implementation controls, the firm was felt to fit GHI's needs best. The cost is not to exceed $42,700.

Leaking Roofs

The board also discussed the problem of constant leaks in the four free-standing homes that have flat top roofs. Management is investigating a roofing material which is blown on (styrofoam with an aggregate outer covering). This method has been used at the Agricultural Research Center. The problem with this relatively new product is its known use experience of only 5 years. Although the material has held up well, the question of longevity remains. The material when applied has an insulation value of R-9 for three inches. The material will be applied to fill the existing depression in the center of the roofs and create a small crown so that the center will be a few inches higher than the outside edge forcing the water to run off. The cost is expected to be $1800 per house, a total of $7200. This material could perhaps be the solution to the roofing problems of the masonry homes as well.

Director Moryadas suggested management inquire about manufacturer's guarantees, and about other projects that have used the material. She suggested that GHI could propose to the manufacturer that GHI could be used as a test site; the manufacturer could use GHI's recommendation and GHI could get the material for cost.

Twin Pines Holds 20th Annual Meeting

by John Unger

Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association, which was founded in 1957 primarily to provide financing for resales of GHI houses, held its 20th Annual Membership Meeting on Tuesday, March 22, in the City Council meeting room. By all accounts, 1976 was a successful year for Greenbelt's community-oriented, cooperative, financial institution. Approximately 40 members were present as President John Webb reviewed the association's performance and progress during the period and Treasurer John Unger provided a summary of its financial operations. Committee reports were also presented by Chairman Joe Timer of the Member Relations Committee and Director Bill Fern, for the Loan Committee. Ed Spiegelthal, Chairman of the Nominations and Elections Committee, presented the candidates for this year's election.

Election Results

In addition to those attending, another 120 members voted by proxy as the following persons were elected:

Peter Watters, Joseph Timer, and John Webb for 3-year terms to the Board of Directors.

Bob Greig, Tom Martin, and George Jones for 2-year terms to the Member Relations Committee.

Wayne Spong, Jr. for a 1-year term to the Member Relations Committee.

Helen Geller, Miriam Reynolds, and John Golembe for 2-year terms to the Nominations and Elections Committee.

Sonia Garin and Katherine Keene for 1-year terms as alternates to the Nominations and Elections Committee.

After the election, a motion was passed instructing the president to appoint a committee of members to review the procedures for Annual Meetings, especially with respect to the scope of the duties of the Nominations and Elections Committee.

Those present also voted to approve the recent actions of the Board involving stipends for directors and elected committee members. Directors' stipends were increased to $50 per meeting attended ($60 for the president), with a maximum of $750 per year ($900 for the president). Payments of $5 per meeting were initiated for members of the Member Relations and Nominations and Elections Committees.

Financial Highlights

Highlights of the financial report included the rate of growth, the increase in dividends, and the amount of retained income. Total assets increased more than 30 percent, from $6.8 million on December 31, 1975, to $8.85 million on December 31, 1976. Dividends paid to members were almost $321,000 in 1975 and more than $456,000 in 1976, an increase of nearly $136,000. Cumulative retained income, i.e., the net worth of the association, increased from $259,000 to $334,000 during 1976, meaning that the net earnings for the year were $75,000. The general reserves grew from $218,000 to more than $273,000, representing 3.2% of the total assets. The auditor's report is available in the Twin Pines office for members wishing to peruse the financial condition of the association in greater detail.

Five-Year Study of Local Transit Facilities Aired

by Edith Beauchamp

Changes in local transit facilities are the focus of an on-going study sponsored by Prince Georges County and discussed at a public meeting last Thursday in the College Park City Chambers.

The study encompasses Greenbelt, Berwyn and Berwyn Heights, that section of College Park east of U.S. 1, the University of Maryland campus, and sections of Riverdale and New Carrollton east to Doctors Hospital. The study is to be a five-year overview of the needs of the communities and how to best serve those needs, tying in with proposed Metrobus changes under Phase II.

Tentative Metro plans involve eliminating many of the current bus routes linking these communities with Washington, and routing them instead to the Metrorail stations opening at Prince Georges Plaza and New Carrollton near the Beltway Train Station. Metro is not interested in expanding its bus services, and if the study shows that cross-country expansion is needed, Prince Georges County would have to increase its subsidies of the system from the 6 to 7 million dollars a year figure that it currently pays Metro.

Metrobus Alternatives

Alternatives to Metrobus are also being considered. The University of Maryland operates a shuttlebus service for its faculty and students in several of the municipalities in the study area, and the study will look into the possibility of expanding the service for community use as well.

The Maryland Department of Transportation operates a B&O Commuter train between Baltimore and Washington with stops at Berwyn, College Park and Riverdale. The train operates at peak rush hours in the morning and evening and takes passengers to Union Station where they can connect with the Metrorail or Metrobus.

The Prince Georges County Department of Human Resources has 15 buses currently in use for scheduled weekly runs for the elderly to shopping plazas (Beltway Plaza, Prince Georges Plaza, and Landover Mall). These are also available for charter by Senior Citizens' Clubs to bring members to meetings. There is also a little-publicized, infrequently used Call-A-Ride taxi service available to the elderly to take them for medical checkups.

At the public meeting, a film was shown depicting the approach four communities have taken to the problem of local transit. They all involved some sort of shuttlebus service, either with fixed routes or on a Dial-A-Bus basis. The consensus at the meeting, however, was that it would be an infeasible program for our area both because of geographical size and because of the cost to implement such a program. It could not be funded by the county, but would rely on the individual municipalities involved. The feeling was that it would be more practical to expand current facilities.

About the Study

John Johnson of the Prince Georges County Department of Public Works and Transportation is coordinating the transit study. According to Johnson, $27,000 is being spent on the project. The Urban Mass Transit Administration is funding 80% of the project or $21,600. Maryland Department of Transportation is paying $3900 and $1500 worth of staff time is being provided by the county. DeLeuw, Cather and Company, Inc., a consulting firm, was hired to carry out the project.

At the meeting, residents of College Park and Riverdale were critical of the chosen study area because it did not include large portions of their cities. It was explained that because of monetary constraints on the project it was felt a more in-depth study could be conducted in a smaller area and that it would still be representative of the needs of the residents just outside the boundaries of the study.

No household surveys will be conducted as existing data from 1973 and 1974 surveys are applicable. The University of Maryland is also undertaking a survey which will be used in this county project.

Transit Hotline

Public input is desired, and a Transit Hotline has been set up to monitor and evaluate these responses. Greenbelt residents are requested to give their name and address, whether they feel transit service in their area is adequate, and how it could be improved. The study is also concerned with the number of employed people in each household, the number of students enrolled at the University of Maryland, and how often an improved service would be used and for what kind of travel.

Please send responses to TRANSIT, Greenbelt City Offices, 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770. A more formal copy of the questionnaire can be obtained from the city offices, and telephone responses are also welcome.

Bowman Runs For GCS Directorship

Bruce Bowman, a Greenbelt resident for thirty-two years, is currently seeking re-election as the Director of the Greenbelt Consumer Services organization. Bowman was one of the organizers of Greenbelt Homes Inc., and served as secretary of that organization for ten years. The candidate was also one of those who set up Twin Pines Savings and Loan, and he served as its first president.

On April 2 the Congress will elect a slate from among the candidates. The Congress-elected slate will be recommended to the membership for election to the Board of Directors at the Annual Membership Meeting in June. The Congress-sponsored slate is limited to one candidate for each Board vacancy.

Notice of Closing Special Trash Collection Station

Due to excessive use by non-residents, and to the dumping of unauthorized materials, the special trash collection station located behind the Greenbelt Fire Station has been found to be a health and sanitation hazard and has been ordered permanently closed. Persons who dispose of trash there will be guilty of littering under City ordinance and subject to a fine of up to $1,000.

Greenbelt refuse collection customers may have special trash removed from their yard upon request by calling 474-8004.

Before we could raise the flag, we had to raise the money.

And it wasn't because Betsy Ross charged too much.

Building an independent nation cost plenty. In lives, in property, and yes, in money.

So, our Founding Fathers asked their fellow Americans to take stock in their country.

And we did. To the tune of $27,000,000.

With that kind of support, it's no wonder that, after the smoke cleared, the star-spangled banner kept waving.

Yes, folks really took stock in their country back then. And you still can by buying United States Savings Bonds.

Because when you join the Payroll Savings Plan at work or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you save, you're investing in a brighter future for you and for America.

So buy United States Savings Bonds. They're a great way to raise the flag. Or a family.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Co-op Bill Passes Senate

If a bill sponsored by state Senator Edward T. Conroy becomes law, Greenbelt's consumer cooperatives will soon be able to enjoy some of the same privileges as farm co-ops. The consumer corporation bill has already passed the State Senate.

Present state law prohibits consumer cooperatives from legally using the name "Co-op" or "Co-operative" in its title. Conroy's bill would allow a democratic consumer-run cooperative like Greenbelt Homes, Inc., which follows a one member, one vote rule, to be legally known as a cooperative.

The one member one vote tradition of Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association is being revived by another Conroy bill requester by several Greenbelters. Senate bill 759 will allow the charter and by laws of a savings and loan association to restrict voting control to a one vote per member basis.

Boys and Girls Club

Three of our basketball teams won their Division and are now playing in the County Championships. They are - 13-yr. girls coached by Laura Kellaher, 15-yr. boys coached by Phil Straw and 17-yr boys coached by Bob Bicknell. Softball practice starts April 1 at 4 p.m. at Braden Field #2 for 16-18 yr olds, April 2, 9 a.m. at Lakewood-Northway Field for 12-13 yr. olds, Apr. 2, 10:30 a.m. at Lakewood-Northway Field for 11 and under, Apr. 2, 4 p.m. at Braden Field #3 for 14-15 yr olds.
